Brewster's Millions

CHAPTER XXXI.

SOON after noon on the 22d of September Monty folded his report to Swearengen Jones, stuck it into his pocket and sallied forth. A parcel delivery wagon had carried off a mysterious bundle a few minutes before. Mrs. Gray could not conceal her wonder, but Brewster's answers to her questions threw little light on the mystery. He could not tell her the big bundle contained the receipts that were to prove his sincerity when the time came to settle with Mr. Jones. Brewster had used his own form of receipt for every purchase. The little stub receipt books had been made to order for him and not only he, but every person in his employ, carried one everywhere. No matter how trivial the purchase, the person who received a dollar of Brewster's money signed a receipt for the amount. Newsboys and bootblacks were the only beings who escaped the formality; tips to waiters, porters, cabbies, etc., were recorded and afterward put into a class by themselves. Receipts for the few dollars remaining in his possession were to be turned over on the morning of the 23d and the general report was not to be completed until 9 o'clock on that day.

He kissed Peggy goodby, told her to be ready for a drive at 4 o'clock, and then went off to find Joe Bragdon and Elon Gardner. They met him by appointment, and to them he confided his design to be married on the following day.

"You can't afford it, Monty," exploded Joe fearlessly. "Peggy is too good a girl. It isn't fair to her."

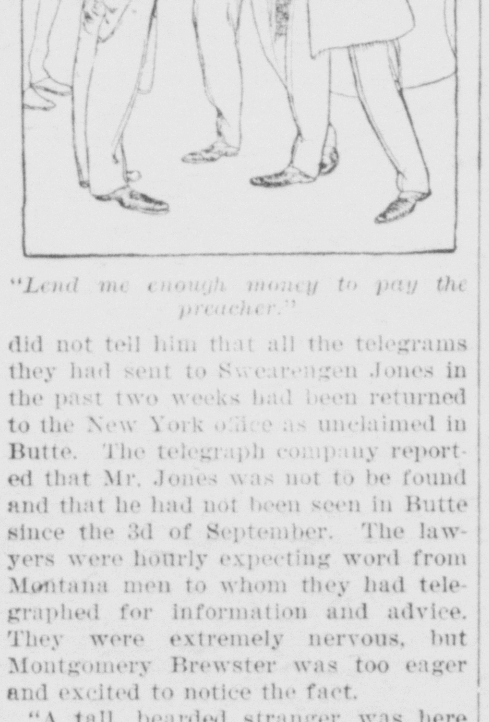
"We have agreed to begin life tomorrow. Wait and see the result. I think it will surprise you. Incidentally it is up to me to engage a minister's services. It's going to be quiet, you know. Joe, you can be my best man if you like, and, Gardie, I'll expect you to sign your name as one of the witnesses. Tomorrow evening we'll have supper at Mrs. Gray's, and 'among those present' will not comprise a very large list, I assure you. But we'll talk about that later on. Just now I want to ask you fellows to lend me enough money to pay the preacher. I'll return it tomorrow afternoon."

"Well, I'm blessed!" exclaimed Gardner, utterly dumfounded by the nerve of the man. Gardner promised to have the minister at the Gray house the next morning. Monty's other request—made in deep seriousness—was that Peggy was not to be told of the little transaction. He then hurried off to the office of Grant & Ripley. The bundles of receipts had preceded him.

"Has Jones arrived in town?" was his first anxious question after the greetings.

"He is not registered at any of the hotels," responded Mr. Grant, and Brewster did not see the troubled look that passed over his face.

"He'll show up tonight, I presume," said he complacently. The lawyers did not tell him that all the telegrams they had sent to Swearengen Jones in the past two weeks had been returned to the New York office as unclaimed in Butte. The telegraph company reported that Mr. Jones was not to be found and that he had not been seen in Butte since the 3d of September. The lawyers were hourly expecting word from Montana men to whom they had telegraphed for information and advice. They were extremely nervous, but Montgomery Brewster was too eager and excited to notice the fact.



"Lend me enough money to pay the preacher."

"A tall, bearded stranger was here this morning asking for you, Mr. Brewster," said Ripley, his head bent over some papers on his desk.

"Ah, Jones, I'm sure! I've always imagined him with a long beard," said Monty, relief in his voice.

"It was not Jones. We know Jones quite well. This man was a stranger and refused to give his name. He said he would call at Mrs. Gray's this afternoon."

"Did he look like a constable or a bill collector?" asked Monty, with a laugh.

"He looked very much like a tramp."

"Well, we'll forget him for the time being," said Monty, drawing the report from his pocket. "Would you mind looking over this report, gentlemen? I'd like to know if it is in proper form to present to Mr. Jones."

Grant's hand trembled as he took the carefully folded sheet from Brewster. A quick glance of despair passed between the two lawyers.

"Of course, you'll understand that this report is merely a synopsis of the expenditures. They are classified, however, and the receipts over there are arranged in such a way that Mr. Jones can easily verify all the figures set out in the report. For instance, where it says 'cigars' I have put down the total amount that went up in smoke. The receipts are to serve as an itemized statement, you know." Mr. Ripley took the paper from his partner's hand and, pulling himself together, read the report aloud. It was as follows:

New York, Sept. 23, 19—.

"It's rather broad, you see, gentlemen, but there are receipts for every dollar, barring some trifling incidentals. He may think I dissipated the fortune, but I defy him or any one else to prove that I have not had my money's worth. To tell you the truth, it has seemed like a hundred million. If any one should tell you that it is an easy matter to waste a million dollars refer him to me. Last fall I weighed 180 pounds; yesterday I barely moved the beam at 140. Last fall there was not a wrinkle in my face, nor did I have a white hair. You see the result of overwork, gentlemen. It will take an age to get back to where I was physically, but I think I can do it with the vacation that begins tomorrow. Incidentally I'm going to be married tomorrow morning, just when I am poorer than I ever expect to be again. I still have a few dollars to spend, and I must be about it. Tomorrow I will account for what I spend this evening. It is now covered by the 'sundries' item, but I'll have the receipts to show all right. See you tomorrow morning."

He was gone, eager to be with Peggy, afraid to discuss his report with the lawyers. Grant and Ripley shook their heads and sat silent for a long time after his departure.

"We ought to hear something definite before night," said Grant, but there was anxiety in his voice.

"I wonder," mused Ripley, as if to himself, "how he will take it if the worst should happen."

Upholds the Administration.

Manila, Aug. 12.—A banquet given by the natives to the Taft party last night attracted great interest and it was expected that Secretary Taft would outline the policy of the present administration. For some time past the feeling among the natives has been that the administration was deviating from the McKinley policy, and as a result there has been a noticeable disaffection among politicians with the insular government, and also much unrest. This attitude was met fearlessly by Secretary Taft, who upheld the administration policy. When he finished his address he was loudly applauded.

Given Affectionate Greeting.

Oyster Bay, L. I., Aug. 12.—President Roosevelt on his return trip from Chautauqua to his Oyster Bay home, which he reached about 10 o'clock this morning, passed through three great states, New York, Pennsylvania and New Jersey. At every station where a stop was made he was accorded a greeting as affectionate as it was enthusiastic.

A PEACE SETBACK

Mr. Witte Says No to Japan's Two Strong Points.

DIPLOMATIC SPARRING

Has Practically Been Ruled Out and the Envoys Will Loose No Time in Concluding Mission.

Russia Flatly Refuses to Consider Indemnity and the Cession of Sakhalin.

Portsmouth, N. H., Aug. 12.—Russia's reply to the Japanese terms of peace were delivered by Mr. Witte to Baron Komura at 9:30 o'clock this morning. The reply is written, there being two texts, one in French, the other in English. Upon the two crucial points, indemnity and the cession of the Island of Sakhalin, the reply is an absolute non-possimus. Other points are accepted as bases for discussion, while still others are accepted conditionally. The reply is rather long because in enumerating the conditions upon which discussion is admitted and those upon which consideration is declined, reasons and arguments are given. The Japanese plenipotentiaries asked for an immediate adjournment to examine and prepare their reply. Mr. Witte intimated that the Russian plenipotentiaries expect the Japanese to display as much expedition as they (the Russians) have shown in the preparation of their response. Monday, therefore, is expected to be the day on which the real discussion will begin. Neither side wants to indulge in diplomatic sparring. The time for fencing is over and less than a week must decide whether a basis of peace is possible.

The tactics of the Japanese are inscrutable. They have shown throughout the war this ability to guard their secrets, military, naval and diplomatic, and now not the remotest clue comes from behind their closed doors as to whether they are prepared to make substantial concessions. Silence and secrecy are their watchwords. But if the conditions as submitted constitute their last word, hope of peace may be regarded as having disappeared if the feeling reflected in Russian circles is a true criterion. And that no substantial concessions on the main issues will be made is the belief both in Russian and Japanese circles.

Today in the inner camps of both plenipotentiaries the deepest pessimism reigns. Mr. Witte, it is positively known, believes the prospects of an agreement are so remote as to be practically nil. He has no desire to prolong the agony, and instead of fencing when the plenipotentiaries come together after the Japanese have had the opportunity to examine the reply, there is strong reason to believe he will not only welcome, but will insist upon an immediate discussion of all the proposed bases. So pessimistic is he that he has already been talking to his colleagues of his plans when the rupture comes. Before sailing from home he contemplates a brief visit to Chicago.

That the Japanese terms, in so far as they touch the main points will not be withdrawn or materially modified is the opinion of the most competent Japanese authority on the ground who will talk for publication, namely, Mr. Julio Kumpei Matsumato, a member of the Japanese parliament, who is here as a financial emissary of Japan and who is in close communication with Baron Komura and Mr. Takahira. The reasons he assigns are extremely interesting.

"The conditions in their broad outlines," said he, "have been substantially known to us in Japan, and the Russians will be very much mistaken if they imagine the Japanese will not insist upon the two chief points—the indemnity and the cession of Sakhalin. To surrender either is impossible. If Baron Komura should yield on these points public feeling in Japan would be so strong that he would be murdered upon his return to Japan. We must be reimbursed for the cost of the war, and we have national claims on Sakhalin which we have never forgotten. Japan has no desire to humiliate Russia more than is necessary, and even now is seeking to avoid wounding Russia's susceptibilities, but public opinion in Japan is absolutely so firm upon the main issues that no Japanese statesman could possibly dare to withdraw the terms which have been proposed as the basis of peace. The Japanese government has only asked what, according to Japanese ideas, are considered most moderate terms."

FEELING IN RUSSIA

As Might Be Expected, Peace Terms Are Denounced.

St. Petersburg, Aug. 12.—The news of the speedy completion of M. Witte's reply came as a surprise to the Russian public, as a delay at least until Monday was anticipated to permit a consultation at Peterhof. M. Witte's initiative and decision have evoked the admiration of the Russians, accustomed as they are to delays in matters of a similar nature. Japan's demands, as predicted, have served to array the Russian government and people under the same banner for the first time since the beginning of the war, and it is evident that M. Witte will find almost solid support at his back in whatever answer he may make to Baron Komura's communication. The government permitted and encouraged the publication of the full press dispatches containing the Japanese conditions, which like a fiery cross, rallied Russia's disunited clans, reactionary, conservative, liberal and radical. With scarcely an exception every voice is raised in urging the government to hold out against Japan's principal demands. Leading men of various classes all declare that a continuance of the war would be better than the acceptance of such terms. The same spirit is manifested in almost every newspaper office, the radical organs ranging alongside of the Novoe Vremya, while the Russ today declares: "If these are Japan's conditions all hope of peace has vanished."

The German View.

Berlin, Aug. 12.—Russian utterances at Portsmouth and St. Petersburg pronouncing the terms unacceptable are treated here as signifying nothing. It is pointed out that the French talked in the same way in 1871 concerning the cession of Alsace-Lorraine, but that they agreed to it rather than prosecute a hopeless war.

London Press In Chorus.

London, Aug. 12.—"Reasonable and legitimate" is generally the verdict of the London newspapers on the Japanese peace terms. The press in a chorus urges Russia to accept the terms and avoid further bloodshed and insure a lasting peace.

THE STATE OF TRADE

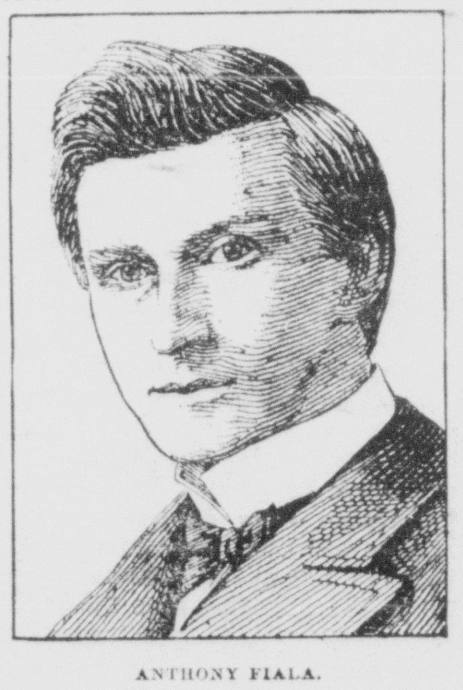
Review of the Week as Found by Bradstreet's Agents.

New York, Aug. 12.—Bradstreet's weekly review of trade today says: Fall trade, stimulated by excellent crop advices, continues to expand at wholesale. Increased purchases, a wider range of selection and some improvement in collections are noted East and Southwest. Lines noting special activity at the West are drygoods, notions, hardware, lumber, groceries and shoes.

One-half of the 1905 wool crop has been sold, worsted manufacturers report orders booked for six months, the shoe and leather trades are doing an increasing business at steadily advancing prices, cotton goods sellers cannot begin to satisfy request for prompt shipment, finished iron and steel show great activity, and although there is some unrest in labor matters the industrial situation reveals few important flaws. Farmers are busy on harvest work and retail trade is naturally quiet, but an increased number of fall buyers is noted in all leading markets.

Fiala at Tromsoe.

Tromsoe, Norway, Aug. 12.—The relief steamer Terra Nova, which rescued Anthony Fiala and the other members of the Ziegler polar expedition, has arrived here.



ANTHONY FIALA.

Arrested for Horse Stealing.

Noblesville, Ind., Aug. 12.—Weldon Gaines, who has served several terms in the penitentiary, was arrested on the charge of stealing a horse and buggy belonging to Thomas Timmons from the public hitch rack in this city.

Truths that Strike Home

Your grocer is honest and—if he cares to do so—can tell you that he knows very little about the bulk coffee he sells you. How can he know, where it originally came from, how it was blended—or with what—or when roasted? If you buy your coffee loose by the pound, how can you expect purity and uniform quality?

LION COFFEE, the LEADER OF ALL PACKAGE COFFEES, is of necessity uniform in quality, strength and flavor. For OVER A QUARTER OF A CENTURY, LION COFFEE has been the standard coffee in millions of homes.

LION COFFEE is carefully packed at our factories, and until opened in your home, has no chance of being adulterated, or of coming in contact with dust, dirt, germs, or unclean hands.

In each package of LION COFFEE you get one full pound of Pure Coffee. Insist upon getting the genuine. (Lion head on every package.)

LAW ENFORCEMENT

This Is the Subject of the Governor's Public Talks.

Indianapolis, Aug. 12.—Governor Hanly went to Bethany Park near Brooklyn today to deliver an address on his favorite subject of law enforcement. Several other speakers were on the program, but he was the main card. Owing to the meeting of the tax board the Governor has not been able to prosecute his law enforcement campaign as vigorously as formerly, but it is expected that he will resume it on the old lines in the fall.

The commission appointed to select a location for the southeastern Indiana hospital for the insane will probably take final action Sept. 4. A meeting was held with Governor Hanly Friday afternoon, and before the adjournment it was decided to send Dr. Smith, superintendent of the eastern Indiana hospital at Richmond, on a tour of inspection of the sites offered. Dr. Edenharter, superintendent of the central hospital here, recently made a tour and pointed out to the various committees the sites they should submit to the commission. The commission is proceeding very slowly, and intends to be thoroughly informed on every detail before taking action that will be of vast importance to the class of unfortunates who will inhabit the institution. Several people who are interested in the locating of the institution were here during the meeting, but they did not appear before the commission.

A prominent Bedford business man who was here because of the meeting of the hospital commissioners, declared that public interest is apparently as deep as ever in the Sarah Schafer murder mystery. "Since I came here no less than a dozen men have asked me about the murder," said he. "It is really surprising, inasmuch as the murder occurred nearly two years ago." He declared that an injustice is done the good citizens of Bedford whenever the statement is made that the real criminals are being shielded. "The good people of our city," he declared, "are very anxious to have the mystery cleared up and the guilty persons punished. If anyone knew about it there is no doubt that he would come forward and make a disclosure." He said it is the general impression at Bedford that the person who killed the girl will never be discovered or known unless he makes a confession.

The board of works has granted a franchise to a company George J. Marott is organizing to furnish fuel gas at 60 cents a thousand feet. The council will probably meet Monday night to ratify it. No provision is made as to what candle-power the gas shall be for lighting purposes. A. P. Potts, president of the Commercial club, Frank D. Stalnaker, president of the board of trade, and Lorenzo Schmidt were made trustees of the franchise to safeguard the public's interest. The granting of the franchise is the outgrowth of the movement to obtain cheaper gas, the Indianapolis Gas company now having a 90-cent rate. The question promises to be one of the paramount issues of the city campaign.

MOB STOOD BY

While Flames Devoured the Victim of Their Wrath.

Sulphur Springs, Tex., Aug. 12.—Tom Williams, a mulatto negro, made an attempt to assault a young white girl in a pasture near this town. Three hours later he was a blazing mass in the public square at Sulphur Springs. The whole proceeding was as orderly as such proceedings ever are. There was no excitement and the lynching was participated in by several hundred people. In less than four hours after the assault the tragedy had ended and the town had returned to its accustomed vocations and the incident was over.

On a farm about two miles southwest of town, Mary Childs lives with her mother and sisters. Mary started, as was her wont, to the pasture to drive up the cows to the milking lot. She had found the cows and was returning with them when Williams accosted her. He took hold of the girl and the latter, realizing her predicament, told the negro he had better release her as her sisters were near by. This evidently frightened the negro and the girl, seeing that he hesitated, set up a scream and he loosened his hold on her and ran off as fast as he could. The girl made her way home and told what had happened. Officers and a posse started after the negro and he was soon caught about a mile and a half east of the town. He was taken to the scene of the attempted assault and was fully identified by his intended victim, who told in detail of her experience with him. A mob quickly assembled and took the negro to the public square, where he was tied to a stake and completely saturated with oil. A match was applied to the feet and a blaze shot high into the air.

The mob stood by and watched the flames devour the negro. After the oil had burned itself out the body was cut down. More oil was poured on the corpse and the blaze started afresh, until the body was almost entirely incinerated. Then the mob dispersed and in half an hour no sign remained of the grewsome tragedy that had been enacted, nor of the victim whose death had been compassed so quickly after his crime. The relatives of the man were permitted to take what was left of the body. They scraped up the remains and took them away. Later they will be buried by them.

Narrow Chests.

The old theory that consumption was inherited is utterly discredited by modern medical science. The germs of consumption must be received from without. These germs are every where. They are constantly being received and cast out by the healthy system. It is the narrow chested whose inheritance is weakness who fall a prey to consumption because they are too weak of lung to resist and throw off disease.

Doctor Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery makes weak lungs strong. It cures obstinate deep-seated coughs, bleeding lungs, weakness, emaciation and other conditions which if neglected or unskilfully treated find a fatal termination in consumption.

$3,000 FORFEIT will be paid by the World's Dispensary Medical Association, Proprietors, Buffalo, N. Y., if they cannot show the original signature of the individual volunteering the testimonial below, and also of the writers of every testimonial among the thousands which they are constantly publishing, thus proving their genuineness.

"In the spring of 1900 I was taken with hemorrhage of the lungs, and became very weak and short of breath, lost flesh and had no appetite," writes Mr. E. L. Robinett, of Xerxes, Tenn. "I was persuaded to try Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery. The first few bottles seemed to do me but little good. Thought I would soon be a victim of that dreaded disease, consumption. Had almost given up in despair when my friends persuaded me to give your 'Golden Medical Discovery' a fair trial. I commenced its use. I weigh 160 pounds now, and when I commenced I only weighed 140 pounds. If any one doubts this statement I will be pleased to answer any inquiry."

Accept no substitute for "Golden Medical Discovery." Nothing is "just as good."

Dr. Pierce's Pleasant Pellets cleanse the clogged system from impurities.

THE farmers have bountiful crops but that is not all. They are able to get good prices for everything they have to sell. The farmers are making the most of the prosperous times.

THE peace conference between Russia and Japan was brought about by President Roosevelt, yet he was characterized by the political opposition as being in favor of war every day in the week. But that was not the first time democracy was mistaken.

EVERY teacher of the city schools should attend the county teachers institute five days next week. Absence from these meetings shows a lack of professional spirit that is not commendable. Every session of the institute will be helpful to every teacher. They owe it to the pupils they teach to be there.

CAST YOUR VOTES.

Take Part in the Carnival Queen Contest.

Quite a good many more votes have been cast for Carnival Queen since yesterday noon. Some of the young ladies made decided gains. It is anticipated that the voting will be pretty swift this evening and tomorrow. Many are watching the vote very closely who have cast no ballots yet. These will begin to a take hand soon and put in some votes.

At noon today the vote stood as follows:

Miss Mayme McDonald	100
" Alice Sharon	60
" Myrtle Baker	132
" Grace Ewing	46
" Hattie Niemeyer	25
" Hazel Stevens	107
" Helen M. Gates	51
" Nellie Fox	15
" Ina Shannon	18
" Elsie Aufderheide	25
Miscellaneous Votes	8

The ballot boxes are at F. H. Gates' store, Cox's Pharmacy and Abel's grocery. Watch the vote from day to day and you will likely do some voting yourself.

Sorry Spectacle.

Near noon today an old man probably seventy-five, residing several miles from Seymour was observed on the street so drunk that he staggered. He was leading a little boy, probably six years of age, who was as drunk as the old man. It was a sorry sight and one that would cause even the man who prides himself on his "liberality" to stop and think.

Uncle Josh.

A charming comedy drama, a big band, grand operatic orchestra and many new and novel specialties, a strong company of acting people with the "Uncle Josh Spruceby" company will no doubt draw a large crowd to th the opera house, Monday, Aug. 14. In these days when the public is flooded with "farce comedies" with no plot, it is a relief to witness a play of this character.

Preachers Fished.

Elder Z. T. Sweeney and Elder Harley Jacksan have returned from the edge of Michigan where they have been fishing for the past few days. In two days they caught fifty-eight fish which averaged from a pound to three pounds each. Elder Sweeney says that about five hundred hunter's licenses have been issued to Indiana sportsmen since the first of August.—Columbus Republican.

An Animal Story For Little Folks

Mr. Bear Is Duped

On a very warm spring day, when the woods were more attractive than the dusty highroad, Mr. Fox and Mr. Bear, who at that time were great chums, set out to pay a call on the barnyard dog. They had dressed themselves in their best Sunday clothes, for Miss Barnyard Dog was a great belle at that time and also knew the way into the hen yard and had been known to treat her friends to many chicken dinners. As they trudged along both began to grow very hot and dusty, and the fine clothes they wore did not help to make them more comfortable. Mr. Fox began to wonder how he could get rid of that heavy coat of his, for it made him weary to carry it.

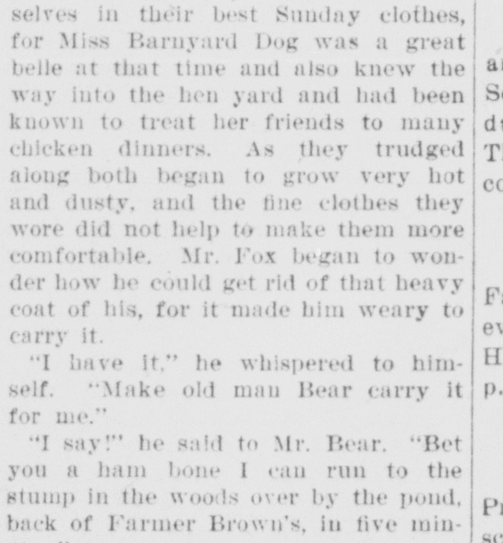
"I have it," he whispered to himself. "Make old man Bear carry it for me."

"I say!" he said to Mr. Bear. "Bet you a ham bone I can run to the stump in the woods over by the pond, back of Farmer Brown's, in five minutes."

"Taken," said Mr. Bear. "You can't do it."

"Carry my coat and I'll show you," cried Mr. Fox.

Mr. Bear meekly took the coat and Mr. Fox was off on the jump. He ran through the meadow past the hill, down the valley into the wood, jumped into the pond and had a good cool bath, smoothed out his hair nicely, put on his clothes, and then, seating himself on the stump near the cool trees, he waited for Mr. Bear.



HE CAME LUMBERING ALONG.

"Rather warm," remarked Mr. Fox. "You seem weary."

"Tired to death," jerked Mr. Bear crossly, "but I won the ham bone."

"Excuse me, Brother Bear," said Mr. Fox cunningly, taking his coat and starting for Miss Dog's; "it's no race. You forgot to take the time of starting," and, with a wink, he was off.

WASHINGTON LETTER

[Special Correspondence.]

"This good old town of Washington is hardly in the infancy of its development," remarked that widely popular gentleman and astute financier, W. B. Hibbs, the broker, at the Shoreham the other evening.

"There isn't a city in the world about which there is so much misconception as this capital of the Yankee nation. The public looks on it as a political headquarters and nothing more, but in this the public is blind, for, I tell you, the time is not distant when Washington is going to be among the great financial and business centers of America. Even now, in the dull days of midsummer, the local banks and trust companies are chock-a-block with business. The shrewd moneyed men of New York note the signs of the times, and they have come in here and bought heavily into our leading financial institutions. A seat in the local Stock Exchange that was valued a year ago at $3,000 is now worth $10,000. Could there be such a rapid rise unless there was solid merit back of it?

"There is not a Washington interest that is not appreciating at a rapid rate. The street car lines of a town are a splendid criterion, and the monthly receipts of our traction companies are just $20,000 greater now than for the corresponding period of last year."

Department Telephones.

The readjustment of the telephone arrangements of the navy department under the new form of contract with the Chesapeake and Potomac Telephone company has been made, and a considerable addition has been made to the telephone facilities of the department at a decrease from former cost. The state and navy departments were formerly served from one branch switchboard, and the work has now been divided, the services of each department going through its own switchboard. A total of seventy-seven telephones have been installed for the navy department, of which forty-two have exchange service, and thirty-five are restricted to communication with other telephones on the departmental switchboard and with other departmental exchanges connected with the navy board by tie lines.

State Papers In Mourning.

During the thirty days ending July 30 all the official stationery of the state department carried a broad band of black as a mark of respect to the memory of John Hay. When Secretary Root asked for some paper and envelopes after taking the oath of office he was furnished with writing materials with heavy mourning. The symbol of sorrow was marked on all the communications of the department. Instructions to consuls and diplomatic officers in foreign lands, and even state papers intended for delivery to kings and queens, were prepared on paper tipped with black.

Will Not Pay Outside Specialists.

Uncle Sam will not pay for treatment of his sea warriors by outside specialists even when such persons requiring the services of other than navy experts have contracted diseases in the line of duty.

A decision to this effect was recently rendered by Comptroller Tracewell of the treasury in the case of Rear Admiral Lamberton, who suffered a severe affliction of the eyes, contracted while in the South American service.

On the advice of the surgeon general of the navy the rear admiral was treated by certain famous oculists, and the bill for $327 was sent to the navy department. Comptroller Tracewell says the government cannot pay it, as the work should have been done by navy surgeons.

One Cent For Four Years' Work.

The postoffice department recently drew a warrant in favor of Adriel L. Stuart of Freedom, N. H., for 1 cent.

This is Stuart's pay for carrying the mails for four years from Freedom to a railroad station seven and three-quarter miles away.

He travels this distance of fifteen and a half miles six times a week. His pay is a quarter of a cent a year, or one three hundred and twelfth part of a cent for one trip.

This is the smallest treasury warrant ever issued and Stuart will have it framed instead of cashed. He bid this low figure because of the prestige which the sign "U. S. Mail" on his wagon gives him in his passenger carrying business.

Restoring the Capitol Rotunda.

The interior of the rotunda of the capitol is being restored so that long before congress reassembles it will look as it did nearly half a century ago before the inside was smeared with blue gray paint and rendered unattractive to the artistic eye.

Probably many people of the present generation do not know that the capitol was originally built of the old Aquia creek sandstone, a really beautiful building stone and one that it was an artistic sin ever to cover with paint. All the interior of the rotunda is built of this stone that is now (since the paint was removed) a soft gray white, just the tint to harmonize with the dark marble floor when the latter is cleaned, as it will be when the work is done.

Washington Monument.

A reception room has been constructed on the lower floor of the Washington monument. The frame of the room was built of steel beams and channel irons, with concrete walls.

Since the monument was first opened to the public, Oct. 9, 1888, up to June 30, 1905, 2,573,609 visitors have ascended to the top of the shaft, most of them having used the elevator, but a large number walking up and down the stairway. The total number of visitors during the past fiscal year was 130,803, of which number 89,235 used the elevator and the remainder the stairway.

Near the entrance, where customers will fall over it if they don't walk around it, is a handsome table on which rests a Wakasa lacquer ware tray, with this invitation attached: "Our patrons will confer a favor by leaving their visiting cards in this receptacle." While some customers feel resentful, others are complaisant.

A Pennsylvania boy wrote a relative, who is a legislator, asking for the report of the state fish commission. The member was so pleased that he showed the letter pretty generally around the statehouse and then wrote to the boy asking what volume he desired. The reply leaked out in some way and reads as follows: "I don't care which year it is. All I want is any old thing heavy enough to press wild flowers."

When a Dover (N. H.) man finished planting his pole beans he left the bag containing the left over seed in the grass beside a tree. He found the bag the other day firmly rooted to the ground. The upper layers had swelled and served as a mulching for the vines, the tops of which protruded from the mouth of the bag.

TWO AT ONE SHOT.

Shooting Affair At Old Soldiers Reunion.

MADISON, Ind., August 11.—George Dittgen, of this city, last night shot Charles Rousey, of Jennings county, through the lungs, fatally wounding him. The same bullet struck the neck of Benjamin Graham, of Dupont, wounding him seriously.

The affair happened at the Middlefork soldiers reunion, where Dittgen had a merry-go-round. The wounded men had been drinking. Rousey and Graham are alleged to have refused to pay for a purchase at a stand. A quarrel resulted, Dittgen drew a revolver and fired at Rousey. The bullet entered his breast, came out beneath the shoulders and lodged in in Graham's neck, knocking him to the ground. Rousey kept on fighting for a while, but later fell.

Friends from Dupont were notified, came on a handcar and took Graham home. Rousey was not moved until next morning. He has a wife and children. Dittgen, after obtaining medical attention for the men he had shot, drove to Madison and surrendered.

HOSPITAL EXPERT

Superintendent Of Eastern Hospital Will Visit Sites.

In order to obtain expert knowledge concerning the best site for the Southeastern Hospital for the Insane, for which institution an appropriation was made by the last General Assembly Dr. S. E. Smith, superintendent of the Eastern Indiana Hospital for the Insane at Richmond, will visit all the sites proposed and report to the commission which one is the most desirable from the viewpoints of health, transportation and physicial surroundings.

This was authorized Friday by the commission at a meeting held in Governor Hanly's office. Those present were G. A. H. Shideler, Duane D. Jacobs, Eph Inman and Dr. Smith. Plans and proposals were carefully considered, but no definite action was taken, save that authorizing Dr. Smith to visit the various sites offered to the commission and report concerning their relative feasiblity.

Dr. Smith will start immediately, visiting Bedford, Columbus, Seymour, New Albany, North Vernon, Corydon and Vernon.—Indianapolis Star.

It is likely that each of the places seeking to locate the hospital will receive official information of this action of the commission soon. Dr. Smith is a man of large hospital experience and his observations will be that of an expert.

Coming Soon.

"A Royal Slave," which comes here in the near future will prove an innovation in the way of melodrama as it is a distinct novelty both as to theme and scenic embellishment.

The plot of the play is taken from Gen. Lew Wallace's great story "The Fair God," which is sufficient guarantee of its literary merit. The many beautiful scenes have been painted from photographs taken in Mexico especially for this production, and are said to be magnificent examples of the scene painter's art.

Regimental Reunions and Forty Second Anniversary Battle Chickamauga,

Chattanooga, September 17-21, 1905.

On September 18, 1905, will occur the forty-second anniversary of the Battle of Chickamauga. It is proposed to celebrate this memorable event with a reunion of the various regiments that participated in this memorable battle, and, in addition, to hold at the same time, a grand reunion of all the regiments that participated in the various battles fought around Chattanooga. This reunion will be held at Chickamauga National Park, September 18, 19 and 20, and the present indications are that it will be the largest and most notable gathering ever held in the south. On the above dates, the remnants from the armies of twelve states, comprising the following: Pennsylvania, Ohio, Michigan, Indiana, Illinois, Wisconsin, Minnesota, Iowa, Nebraska, Missouri, Kansas and Kentucky, will assemble, many for the first time since they marched from its blood-stained fields, forty-two years ago.

Grand and glorious will be the meeting and all who attend will have cause to rejoice The lowest rate ever secured has been given the entire public for this occasion, one cent per mile, short line distance.

Here is one of the great opportunities for the education of the youth. Don't fail to take your children and show them historic Chattanooga, with all its historical connections. It is the opportunity of a lifetime. Go and see the old war generals and other officers point out the places of interest on the battlefield; let them show you and explain, in person, the markers erected on the battlefield showing the positions of the opposing armies at the time of battle. It will not be long until none will be left to do this noble work; take this opportunity and don't let it escape you, it is worth six months in the school room to any student.

It will be many years, if ever again, that such an opportunity will present itself. See that your tickets read via the Louisville & Nashville R. R., the Battlefield Route. Call on your nearest railroad agent for rates and advertising matter pertaining to the reunion or write nearest representative of the Louisville & Nashville R. R.

A DEAD HORSE

Suit Over the Same Shows the Cost of Litigation.

Kokomo, Ind., Aug. 12.—The clerk of the Howard circuit court has placed in the hands of the sheriff a fee bill for $1,482.10 against W. C. Legg of Windfall for costs taxed against him in the case of Adam Repp. The plaintiff sued Legg upon the latter's warranty as to the soundness of a horse purchased for $81. The animal died a few days after the deal. Repp was defeated before a justice of the peace here. He appealed to the Tipton circuit court, where two trials were had, and in each instance the jury disagreed. The case was venued to Kokomo, where the jury gave Repp a judgment for $1.

The case occupied the court from four to seven days on each trial. More than one hundred witnesses wre called each time. The attorneys' fees will probably reach $1,000 on a side. Legg is legally responsible for all costs taxed against him.

BIGELOW'S STEALINGS

Story of How Milwaukee Banker Began Crooked Work.

Milwaukee, Aug. 12.—The Journal prints a story covering the history of former Banker Frank G. Bigelow's downfall, showing the amounts of his stealings from the First National bank from May 25, 1904, until April 25th last. He started his crooked work by abstracting $15,000 and gradually increased the amounts until the total approximated over a million and a half. The truth as revealed in an exhibit submitted to the bankruptcy court in proof of the bank's claim against Biglow, is as strange as any fiction.

Condition of Crops.

New York, Aug. 12.—Bradstreet's advices are that the corn crop of the South will be the best ever made and that the Southwestern crop is well nigh assured. In Illinois, Indiana and Ohio dry weather or heat has caused firing and rain is needed. In the Northwest spring wheat is being cut with little or no complaint as to rust damage, and a good wheat and hop crop is looked for in the north Pacific states. California wheat, oats and barley will yield below an average.

A Warning to Mothers,

Too much care cannot be used with small children during the hot weather of the summer months to guard against bowel troubles. As a rule it is only necessary to give the child a dose of castor oil to correct any disorder of the bowels. Do not use any substitute, but give the old-fashioned castor oil, and see that it is fresh, as rancid oil nauseates and has a tendency to gripe. If this does not check the bowels give Chamberlain's Colic, Cholera and Diarrhoea Remedy and then a dose of castor oil, and the disease may be checked in its incipiency and all danger avoided. The castor oil and this remedy should be procured at once and kept ready for instant use as soon as the first indications of any bowel trouble appears. This is the most successful treatment known and may be relied upon with implicit confidence even in cases of cholera infantum. For sale by C. W. Milhous.

A PATIENT PEOPLE

Residents of New Orleans Awaiting Results of Fight Against Fever.

BEGINNING TO TELL

The Intelligent Campaign of Education Now Going On Is Having a Large Influence.

Under the Direction of Marine Hospital Service Better Results Are Apparent.

New Orleans, Aug. 12.—New cases yesterday, 61; total to date, 808; deaths yesterday, 9; total to date, 133.

New Orleans, Aug. 12.—With Surgeon White of the marine hospital service frankly expressing no surprise at the increase in the number of new cases of fever and expecting that for some time to come there will be a large quota brought to light daily, the people of New Orleans have made up their minds to await in patience the results of the federal campaign, which is now fairly in swing. The life of a stegomyia mosquito has not been definitely ascertained, but the fever had made so much headway when it was discovered and it has prevailed so generally in the lower section of the city since then that there are doubtless many of the insects which have escaped the disinfecting crusade launched against them, and they may be expected to transmit the disease for some days longer at least. It is considered to have been demonstrated that some of the physicians have heretofore neglected to report cases and that has made it difficult for the health authorities to maintain a complete record of all the cases in existence. The campaign of education and persuasion, however, is beginning to tell and Dr. White begins to see light ahead from the apparent willingness of the physicians to co-operate with him to the extent of making known the sickness that appears in their private practice. Dr. White himself is much pleased with the evidence of improvement in the situation.

An unexpected blow was struck at the marine hospital staff yesterday when one of the men sent here to assist in the fight against the disease was himself stricken. The victim is Surgeon T. Berry. Dr. Berry is a Texan by nativity, but has lately been stationed in New York. He was one of the first to reach New Orleans, and because he had been through the Cuban campaign and had had the fever in Texas he was considered to be immune and was put in charge of the work in the originally infected area, where the fever has raged most fiercely. Dr. Berry has been doing yeoman service in the matter of disinfection. He was taken ill Thursday and yesterday his case developed into one of yellow fever. In order that he might have the best of treatment he was removed to the Touro infirmary, where special yellow fever wards have been provided and where he is expected to speedily recover.

The Result of a Sunstroke.

Paris, Ill., Aug. 12.—An inquest was held here as to the sanity of Miss Jennie A. Nelson, resulting in her commitment to the hospital for the insane at Kankakee. Miss Nelson was for a number of years a missionary in India, and while engaged in that work suffered a sunstroke, which impaired her mind. For about fourteen years prior to this commitment, she has never been known to speak, and she was also possessed of the hallucination that she could not walk without assistance. Apart from these peculiarities, her mind seemed perfectly clear, and she was a fluent writer and an earnest tmeperance advocate, being a contributor to periodicals of the W. C. T. U. and kindred organizations.

Uniform Charges Ordered.

Washington, Aug. 12.—Sweeping reductions on northbound freight rates on petroleum products so as to make the tariff northbound and southbound uniform, especially noteworthy in view of the recent charges of a combination between railroads and the Standard Oil company for exacting higher rates northbound, are announced in the new schedules filed with the interstate commerce commission by the Illinois Central and Louisville & Nashville railroads.

Creatore Must Pay.

Detroit, Aug. 12.—Creatore, the Italian bandmaster, demanded an immediate trial for the non-support case brought against him by his wife, Signora Anna Creatore, and the case was brought to a conclusion. Justice St. Aubin ordered Creatore to pay his wife $7 per week for her support and to pay her expenses on her trip from New York to Detroit and return. Creatore was held under $300 bonds to fulfill these directions of the court.

MacArthur Leaves Front.

General Oku's Headquarters in the Field, via Fusan, Aug. 12.—General Arthur MacArthur, accompanied by his aide-de-camp, Captain Parker W. West of the Eleventh United States cavalry, has left the front for Japan. He will visit Korea, China and India before returning to America.
